

METHOD OF STUDY

A combination of self-paced learning electronically submitted assignments and face-to-face teaching (via tutorials either in person or via electronic options – one or two sessions per module as required) means that students can study part time while they are working, even from offshore locations e.g. military postings.

COURSE DIRECTOR

WALTER GLASS MBS, BBS, FCILT

Walter has his own consultancy, specialising in logistics supply chain management, marketing, customer service auditing and contract procurement. He has been involved in logistics and supply chain projects and international consultancy for over 20 years.

He has been Director of logistics and supply chain programmes since 1995 and is a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Logistics & Transport. Walter also supervises postgraduate research in logistics and supply chain management and is the Deputy Director of Logistics Supply Chain at Massey University.

ENROLMENT

Due to the flexible nature of distance learning students can start the course throughout the year, March to December.

COURSE FEES

THE LOGISTICS TRAINING GROUP LTD

The Logistics Training Group Ltd (LTG) can provide applied distance educational services throughout Australia, New Zealand and the Asia-Pacific Rim. We believe that logistics & supply chain managers need to experience a stream of learning development to fit their personal and professional circumstances. Often this means using a bridging qualification to advance their academic and professional careers.

LTG provides specialised bridging qualifications and educational programmes such as the Certificate and Professional Diploma to meet the constantly changing needs of the market place.

In addition, LTG offer the CILT UK Professional Diploma in Logistics & Transport and cooperate with Massey University to provide follow-on qualifications. LTG Lecturers are drawn from both University and wider business community sources

THE CHARTERED INSTITUTE OF LOGISTICS & TRANSPORT (CILT)

The CILT is a Global Association for professionals who work in the field of logistics, transport and supply chain, and has a particularly strong presence in Commonwealth Countries, with associate entities in the European Union, Scandinavia and China.

The Institute aims to:

- Enhance the knowledge, competence and recognition of those working in logistics, transport and supply chain;
- Provide an internationally recognised qualification structure;
- Promote logistics, transport & supply chain education and training to employers, Government and educational bodies

WHO SHOULD STUDY THE UK CERTIFICATE?

The internationally recognised Certificate is based on a competency model that specifies precisely what a Supervisor and Front Line Manager should be able to do and how well it should be done.

To achieve this the CILT (UK) Certificate requires students to demonstrate competence in the required compulsory modules as well as their chosen Technical Elective. Students work is assessed against the UK Qualification Authority competence yardstick.

It is in the assessment method where the CILT (UK) Certificate provides its Global Benchmark and consistency. Certain options also allow EU recognition and EJLog postnominals.
